NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION OF THE MARLIN LUMBER COMPANY

Notice is hereby given that at a meeting of the stockholders of the Marlin Lumber Company, a corporation created and organized under the laws of the State of West Virginia, held at Marlinton, West Virginia, on the 21st day of January, 1927, the following resolutions were adopted:

RESOLVED, FIRST, That the Marlin Lumber Company, a corporation created and organized under the laws of the State of West Virginia, does hereby discontinue business as a corporation and surrender its said state its charter and corporate franchises. The Board of Directors will proceed to convert the property, choses in action and all assets of this corporation into cash, and pay off and discharge all its debts, liabilities and obligations; and after fully discharging all such debts, liabilities and obligations, divide the remainder among the stockholders pro rata with their several holdings of stock, but no such payment shall be made to any stockholder until after the publication of the notice herein-after provided.

RESOLVED, SECOND, That the president of this corporation cause notice of the adoption of the foregoing resolution to be published in some newspaper of general circulation, published near the principal office or place of business of this corporation, once a week for four successive weeks; and that he certify these resolutions to the Secretary of the State of West Virginia, and deliver to him a certificate show-do nearly earned him a broken neck! By a suitable spot in which to jump. It was going to jump. Inside of two minutes it had perched upon the side of the engine at the rate of sixty or more feet per second. And there Joe hung, clinging his toes into the engine, threatened to wrench him right, while he couldn't rap on it. The wind was so strong that either one of the hand holds.

He yelled—yelled at the top of his lungs making as much noise and the wind whistled as if he were heard him. Joe began wondering if he could hang on. Hooker, the next station, a few miles away, was in the pit of his stomach for real even hesitate at Hooker. It's next stop was I BEYOND Hooker. And he knew darned good never hang on that long.

Hope Was All He Had

"The compression of the air on my body," he said against the rear hand hold. It was better on that train—whether it was a baby in a basket on the rails beneath the train."

Joe's plight was pretty well nigh hopeless—stop a guy from hanging. And hope was all Joe had hanging the train would, for some reason, stop. The train rolled on. Now it was just a matter of time before it would be coming into the town. Now it was coming into the town. It passed the town, and stopped right along toward Guyman line. Then Joe began hoping the train would stop. It was a pretty forlorn hope, but it was his.

"We ran over some pretty rough country in Hooker and Guyman," he says. "There were a dandy places for a fellow in my position to come minded to stick it out and see the natural outcome. But Joe didn't dive off of any treeless. He was telling him the train might stop. And Joe played know hope was a doggone liar and it would be stopped anywhere between there and Dalhart."

Then Came the Miracle

Joe's hands were getting stiff with the cold difficulty hanging on around the curves. He knew Guyman he wouldn't be able to play that game. Seen his numbed hands would let go and he'd be earth was just about up. The train was roaring when suddenly, the miracle happened.

The brakes began to grind—the train began to stop and up ahead Joe could see a red light and the sphere set at the "stop" signal. They stopped at the depot, and several men down from his inanimate perch.

"I was stiff as a board," he says. "My eyes were my face black as coal. I was frozen. I was taken out, questioned, and complimented on my luck. I made her stop!" they showed me a message. I seen me and wired ahead."

And the message read: "Man seen hanging on side of fifth coach of Golden State."

TO OUR PATRONS

Due to the new economic conditions under which banks operate today, bank earnings have been greatly reduced. Earnings are not adequate to cover many services which, heretofore banks were glad to give their patrons. Depositors have demanded greater protection and the cost of deposit insurance etc., are added items of expense.

A recent survey of checking accounts in the banks of the country showed that more than two thirds of these accounts are carried at a loss. As recommended by the banking departments, and as has been done by nearly all banks, we must ask our depositors to pay a part of the carrying cost of their accounts if a sufficient balance is not carried.

Please bear in mind that we are glad to have your account, even though it is small, but however the number of checks which may be drawn is limited.

After July 1, 1937 a charge of 50c per month will be made on all checking accounts where the average balance has fallen below $50.00 and against which more than five checks have been charged during the month.

Any charge on accounts of religious and charitable organizations shall be optional with the banks. Active checking accounts with balances of $50.00 or more will be subject to analysis and a reasonable charge made if carried at a loss.

Teas Scheduled In Hospital Drive

The drive for the Postmaster (County Warrenton) Hospital and its immediate institution, is getting under way this week. The first of a series of teas for the drive will be held Thursday evening from 8 to 10 at the home of Mrs. C. S. Krenner, in the territory of which Mrs. C. S. Krenner is chairman. Next week a tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Krenner, in the territory of which Mrs. Krenner is chairman. The following week Mrs. Frank Johnson will be hostess for a tea, in the territory of which Mrs. Walter Mann is chairman. Other activities will be announced as they become apparent.

A part of the proceeds from "Victory Teas," sponsored by our Marlinton Women's Club, and of the American Day Dinner sponsored by the local American Legion post will go toward the $75,000 necessary to complete the project.

Persons attending the various teas in their neighborhoods may fill out the blank to be found in the paper and take it with them to the teas. It is also requested that those who cannot attend or who are not otherwise connected fill out the blank and send it with their contribution to the drive.

It is estimated that the teas sponsored for this year are not nearly as many as last year, but that the interest necessary to meet the drive of $75,000 must be in the hands of the drive committee.

Book-hungry children as well as adults back was the response shown in many communities, as the result of a series of meetings held in the interest of the Postmaster County Senior Library Movement during the week of October 22-27 in Durbin, Conn., Greenback, Maryland, Stillman and Stacy Park, West Virginia, and other communities. At the West Virginia Library Convention, and W. P. Kallan, chairman of the West Virginia Library Convention and head librarian for West Virginia University, were in the county to share a valued source which illustrated a county library project at work in Maryland county. Since then, and to discuss the idea of what a similar project might do for this county, although perhaps at a smaller scale in the beginning.

Although attendance at some of the meetings was small, Mrs. Esther Lachar, chairman of the County Library movement, expressed confidence that the project was designed in this project and that it is to be the vision of a County Library project to be established which will serve every resident from toddler to citizen, not only making matter, not only for the parents and for the education and information in activities in which they may be interested.

A county library is not in order the West Virginia Public Library Law would prevent of a main library situated in large towns, book branches in smaller communities, and branches in smaller communities of smaller towns. It would require a main library and branches already provided in the county, and the county would need more public buildings.

IT Impresses ME

WELL, here we are... giving attention to Main Street... I considered that when the time comes of starting everyone by starting at the heavy machinery through the window and across the glass one will have a lot to say. But the place is still so cluttered up one can tell what it is going to be... Everything is underfoot, if it was too big to pile on the dock... So far nothing is going to run except the horses, the new Belmont press... and not!

TWO different persons have come in to ask me if this is a show-up... Another fellow came in, scratched his head, and asked, "Watcha waitin' up to here, a horse, eh?"... And a little fellow and another fellow in the door and said, "Don't you guess more all this cluttered out of here when you put it on the dock?"... I got by with them, all right, all a piece of it and was honestly surprised the door and said, "In the where the Newsboys take it?"... That got me, as I replied, "No, no, no, you'll find that out soon and passed in the general direction of Larch's Street (Chicago St., Council Bluffs).

OF COURSE, someone's gonna have wanted around the large photo show windows to watch you sport the machine... and for their benefit it's "long" the thing over... it is in the air...

There weeping or sorrow nor death

Virgil B. Harris Takes Teaching Job At Greenbank High

Virgil B. Two Marlinton Men Aboard Famed Battle Cruiser

Two Marlinton, W. Va., Navy men served aboard this unique battle cruiser while she was proving her worth during nearly six months of combat from Okinawa to the fringes of Japan's Inland Sea.

The Guam, under the command of Capt. Leland P. Lovette, USN, made her battle debut on the morning of March 18, during the now historic two-day air strike against the Ryukyus and the Inland Sea area of Japan.

Guns of the big battle cruiser were credited with shooting down two Jap planes as they attempted suicide dives at a nearby aircraft carrier. In addition, she is credited with assists on six straggling enemy planes, while her 12-inch guns have poured tons of steel on two Jap-held islands.

The Guam, the American version of the pocket battleship and a comparatively recent addition to the Pacific Fleet, cruised her task force off Japanese shores for 31 days in recent operations against the Okinawa invasion. She is the only one of her class.

Like her sister ship, USS Albatross, she is designated as a battle cruiser, the two being the only ships of their type in the Fleet. She exceeds many battleships in length and tonnage, she carries 12-inch guns in place of the 8-inch weapons of the usual heavy cruiser and bristles with a heavy concentration of anti-aircraft batteries.

The Marlinton men are: Clifford L. Backley, 31, R. 1-4, USNR, whose wife, Mrs. Ruth Backley, lives on Route 100, Box 183, and Arch G. Woodruff, 30, R. 1-4, USNR, Route 1, Box 183.

Lobelia News

The revival which closed at the West View Christian church Sunday night was a success as shown by large crowds, intense interest, and 10 additions to the church. The evangelists were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker, of Chesapeake, Ohio. A. M. Smith, of Millpoint, assisted in singing with Russell Blevens, pastor.

Club Picnic

Lobelia farm women had their annual picnic at Droop Mountain park Sunday. After the social hour in the afternoon a vespere service was held. Mrs. Arlene Cutlip was in charge. Her theme was "A Successful Life." She listed as the four things that every successful life must have—laughter, sorrow, love of work, and love of home and friends. Mrs. Cutlip gave an inspiring talk on this topic. The program was concluded with a few poems, prayers and some lovely old hymns.

Miss Norma Sue Judy, of Washington, D. C., visited her sister, Mrs. E. L. Cutlip, here last week.

Russell McMillen and son, Ray, and family visited Mr. McMillen's sister last week end.

Those up from Charleston last week end to visit friends and relatives were Mrs. Harvey Workwick and children, Mrs. Dale Kinnison, Marion Kinnison, Misses Helen Ryder, Della Anderson, and Irene Harold, also Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kinnison and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Foster Summors and daughters, of Indianapolis, Ind., are visiting here with Mr. Summors's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Summors. They were accompanied by Mrs. Summors's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Womack, of Tolet, Ky., who visited a few days and went to Baltimore, Md., to visit their other two daughters. Miss Winona Cooey has returned from Richmond, Va. Here she has been visiting this summer. She will enter school.

Mrs. Gertrude McCoy and little son went to Cleveland, Ohio, to spend a few months with Mrs. McCoy's sister, Mrs. Merrill Hodges. They were accompanied by Mrs. McCoy's little niece, Ruby Lynn Hodges.

Brush Up Nap

Textile specialists suggest special care in brushing up the nap or fluffy surface of cotton chenille spreads and wool blankets. The nap on chenille spreads may be fluffed by shaking them occasionally as they dry on the line and rubbing briskly with the hand or a soft brush. Give them a final rub after they are dry. To raise the nap on wool blankets, however, a clean, stiff-brush broom is recommended, but the brushing must be done after the blanket is thoroughly dry.

Depth to Plant Trees

It is important to transplant trees at the proper depth. If the root mass is buried too deep, the roots can't get sufficient oxygen and may die. If too shallow, there'll be a mound around the base and the roots will tend to dry out. The root crown should be as near the same level at which it was growing before as possible.

Optic Nerve

The optic nerve contains more than 1,000,000 nerve fibers. Like a telephone cord, it is flexible where it enters the eye so as to permit the eye to rotate from side to side.

Jeanie McCutcheon Tells Of Pacific Experiences

(The following story is from a recent issue of the Beckley Post-Herald. Miss McCutcheon is a niece of Mrs. L. C. McCutcheon and the late Dr. McCutcheon of Greenbank, Pocahontas county. They formerly lived in Webster Springs where Dr. McCutcheon served as mayor at one time.)

Miss Eugenia A. (Jeanie) McCutcheon of Summersville, daughter of Dr. L. N. McCutcheon, of Richwood, has seen much of the worst of the Pacific war first hand having served as an American Red Cross recreational director for many months in the South Pacific.

Now home on a month's leave, Miss McCutcheon recalls that life with the 80th General hospital at Milne Bay, New Guinea, was pretty nightmarish during the 10 months she spent there, helping to provide recreational entertainment for the hundreds of wounded American troops brought back from the fighting fronts.

There were a few Japs to keep things exciting around Milne Bay, too.

"A few times a Jap managed to slip inside the movie theater, or got through our lines to steal rations," she recalled.

When Miss McCutcheon first went to Milne Bay with the 80th hospital unit, no buildings had been erected, and for the most part, the workers moved about in a sea of mud. The Red Cross workers attached to the unit, five in number, had to sleep in tents without floors.

"Once it rained continuously for 36 days and nights and that was a rather terrible experience," said the Red Cross worker.

...continuously for 36 days and nights and that was a rather terrible experience," said the Red Cross worker.

The first buildings put up after the 80th hospital unit arrived at Milne Bay was nothing more than a native hut—100 feet long and built of coconut palm. The Red Cross building and chapel were built of the same materials, "all built in a sea of mud," Miss McCutcheon said.

The hospital there opened up with 800 patients, and at one time they had as many as 1,500 sick and wounded.

"Our first duty was to look after the wounded," she explained. "We tried to provide recreational facilities for the 500 detached service men with the unit... Sometimes the men got pretty blue," she reflected.

The unit was virtually shut off from the world. Magazines and newspapers reached them three months late.

"The good old American spirit, a sense of humor, and our ingenuity was what pulled us all through," she stated. Miss McCutcheon, showing no ill effects of her rugged life in the Pacific, went through the whole experience

"The good old American spirit, a sense of humor, and our ingenuity was what pulled us all through," she stated. Miss McCutcheon, showing no ill effects of her rugged life in the Pacific, went through the whole experience without serious illness and without contracting malaria.

"I met a large number of boys from this section of West Virginia and it was always a treat to meet up with anybody from back home," she said.

Miss McCutcheon was on temporary duty for a time at Biak, and on April 1 she was sent to Manila, while furious fighting was still going on in the islands.

During her service in the South Pacific, she often looked out and saw the artillery fire of our forces and once, at Biak, the Japs made a sneak raid on the air strip there, killing several persons.

At Manila, where the Quezon Institute, a sanatorium, was taken over for use as a hospital, as many as 2,000 wounded were treated at one time. During two months the hospital handled 10,000 patients, she said.

Fertilizing Small Fruits

For strawberries, work 4 pounds of 5-10-5 fertilizer, or equivalent, per 100 feet or row into soil before planting; for other fruits, use $\frac{1}{2}$ pound per bush, and work around the plant after it is set. Do not permit fertilizer to come in direct contact with roots or crown of berry plants.

Suit Saving

Handle with care is the rule suggested by textile specialists for washing bathing suits last and give special service. Frequent washing in soda, particularly after salt dips, helps make the fabric longer. Salt, sand, or dirt mean the fibers injures the fabric.

Pesky Insects

Flies and mosquitoes are no annoying, but flies spread disease. Keep them out of the house by screens on doors, windows, chimney openings, and destroy many breeding places as found. If they get in, kill them with a household fly spray.

Prune Berries

Small fruits and berries at established should be pruned during their dormant season before begin spring growth.

Sweet Corn

Some strains of sweet corn are sweeter than others, and their sweetness better than others between the picking and the eating.

Libby Wooddell Describes Visit to Hitler's 'Nest'

Mrs. Rachel Wooddell, of Greenbank, has received from her daughter, Libby Wooddell, the following entertaining letter,

Dear Mom,

This has been a most outstanding day. We went plunk to the top of the world (it seemed) to Hitler's "Eagle's Nest." Expect I'd better start at the beginning so you can understand what I mean.

Last night, as you know, we spent in Salzburg. Since we had little time there yesterday evening we decided to spend the morning wandering over the town. However, all good plans go askew. We had a flat tire during the night so Jan and I took it on ourselves to fix it. After we tried two jacks, neither of which worked, and got ourselves perfectly grimy, a GI came and did the job for us in no time flat. We next hurried down to the motor pool to have the bad tire fixed before another good one went flat, get gas, oil and water, etc. With the time left Jan and I pulled half up a steep hill to see a big white castle. Half way up we discovered a one wheel cable car running straight up the side of the mountain. We rode back to the
